THE PACIFIC MAIL.

Enquiry on board the Zealandia respecting the possibilities of the line being continued, under fresh arrangements, at the close of the contract terminating November 1st, only elicited counter enquiries as to the latest developments of the question in America. It appears, however, that the matter constitutes one of the leading public topics of discussion in New Zealand. According to Auckland papers, public opinion in that city is strongly decided in favor of New Zealand maintaining the service, if unaided by any other Government. Stress is laid upon the growing importance of the trade between that port and America, by the medium of the Pacific Mail steamers. It is represented that it would be a suicidal policy to have the communication cut off. On the other hand Wellington, as represented by its Chamber of Commerce, is opposed to the renewal of the subsidy, and favors giving exclusive support to the direct line of steam-

: Lo. lon. The latter, it is claimed, can make communication but two days and a half behind the time of the San Francisco route. As the Chamber passed a resolution to that effect, by a unanimous vote, which they telegraphed to all the Chambers in the Colony, the Auckland papers urged that the action of Wellington should be offset at once by their own Chamber in a contrary direction. Of course, the attitude of Wellington is attributed to jealousy of Auckland as the entrepot of the American trade under the existing arrangement. Wellington gets, comparatively, a very small share of the trade. At the latest advices the matter largely hinged upon the vicissitudes of a somewhat uncertain political situation. Sir Julius Vogel's Ministry is, in the vernacular of Hawaii, in pilikia. A revised tariff policy, increasing duties, has been rejected almost contemptuously by the Legislature. In the course of the debate one of the Government supporters put the case tersely, when he said that the problem with that side of the house was how to destroy the Government's measures without destroying the Government. It seems the Opposition is not prepared to form a new Cabinet in the event of the overthrow of the present one. There was a rumor afloat that Sir Julius was going to make the insertion of the Pacific Mail subsidy in the supply bill conditional upon its supporters voting through the Government's unpopular measures. Among the latter is a million pound loan bill. The question was expected to come up the week after the steamer sailed, and it is possible there may be telegraphic advices of the result by the next American mail.

The BULLETIN is the first local paper to give Mr. George Augustus Sala's written impressions of Honolulu. They are in his characteristic vein, and will doubtless be highly entertaining to our readers. The article appears on the fourth page of this issue.

General Komaroff:—Sir—I send you this sword and 100,000 rubles as a mark of my most signal displeasure. Should you again transcend the limits of your just authority I shall be very likely to repeat this punishment. Yours in anger, Aleck.
